Biographical History

Albert Coates was born in St. Petersburg in 1882 into a family of English merchants—part of a larger expatriate community that the sea trade routes between northern England and the Baltic had brought to Russia earlier in the 19th century. Coates was sent to primary school in London, then to high school and university in Liverpool, where he studied sciences. He was supposed to join his father’s business, but instead turned to music, enrolling at the Leipzig Conservatory in 1902. There, he studied conducting with Nikisch, and thereafter rose rapidly through the ranks. He was a répétiteur for Nikisch, an assistant to Ernst von Schuch in Dresden, and then from 1910 to 1917 he conducted at the Mariinsky Theatre in St Petersburg. He left Russia in 1919, after which he regularly worked with the London Symphony Orchestra; the world premières he conducted with them included the complete Planets Suite by Holst and the revised version of Vaughan Williams’s A London Symphony. In 1920, Coates made his debut with the New York Symphony Orchestra; from 1923 to 1925 he was Music Director of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, and in 1926 also conducted for the Philharmonic and Symphonic Societies in New York. He returned on occasion to conduct in Europe, where he worked for a season at the Berlin State Opera (1931), gave concerts with the Vienna Philharmonic (1935), and was also engaged as a guest at Covent Garden (1938).

Coates was married twice. His first wife was Madelon Holland, who wrote the libretto of his first opera, Asshurbanipal, in 1910; his second wife was the South African singer Vera de Villiers, who apparently sang under his baton as early as 1934 in London. They married on 20 January 1945, and emigrated to South Africa the following year, settling in the Cape Town suburb of Milnerton. The exact date of Coates’s arrival in South Africa is uncertain. In July 1946, he was still involved in Wigmore Hall concerts in London, though by October he was already conducting in Johannesburg. Coates obviously had not intended the move as simply a retirement to a more temperate climate, for he continued to conduct in his new homeland. He worked first with the Johannesburg Municipal Orchestra, and followed this 3 The newest New Grove lists only two operas, though in fact Coates wrote nine, of which DOMUS holds all the autograph scores and libretti, namely Asshurbanipal (1915); The Myth Beautiful (1917); Samuel Pepys (1929); Pickwick (1936; this was the first opera ever to be televised); Gainsborough (1939); The Boy David (1948); The Duel (1950); Thro’ the magic eye (1952) and Van Hanks & the Devil (1952).

with various opera and orchestral engagements in Cape Town. His last opera, Van Hunks & the Devil (for which he also wrote the libretto), was composed on a South African topic, and performed for the Van Riebeeck Festival in 1952 (which commemorated the three hundredth anniversary of the first white settlement in South Africa under Jan van Riebeeck). Coates died in Cape Town on 11 December 1953.

Administrative Information

Provenance
The Albert Coates collection was donated to the University of Stellenbosch on 10 August 1957 by the soprano Vera de Villiers, wife of Albert Coates.

Content

Abstract
The Albert Coates Collection consists of correspondence, writings, biographical material, books, periodicals, programmes, photographs, newspaper cuttings, sound recordings and music (published and unpublished) by Coates and other composers. The largest part of this collection consists of music manuscripts. Indeed in this collection is music performed by Vera de Villers [Coates]. Some programmes list performances by Albert and Vera Coates.

Accruals
No further additions.

System of arrangement

Personal Papers contains all personal documents such as certificates and autograph books. Miscellaneous items in this section are documents that are of general nature. This area covers a small section of the overall collection.

Correspondence is arranged alphabetically and chronologically, and comprises address books and correspondence with relatives, acquaintances and fellow composers and musicians.

Concert Programmes, Leaflets and Posters comprises programmes featuring Albert Coates, programmes featuring Vera Coates, programmes featuring Albert and Vera Coates, programmes featuring Arthur Nikisch, programmes from the Festspiele Salzburg, miscellaneous programmes, leaflets, posters and brochures. Programme details typically include venues, conductors and performers. Details regarding works performed are included in instances where Albert Coates conducts or where works by Albert Coates are performed. This series is arranged chronologically.

Newspaper Cuttings includes reviews of works of Albert Coates and performances by Albert and Vera Coates. This section is divided according to cuttings pertaining to Albert Coates, cuttings pertaining to Vera Coates and miscellaneous cuttings.
Magazines comprises a small collection of mostly general interest. A number of these magazines contain articles on Albert and Vera Coates.

Notes constitutes holograph and print articles about Albert and Vera Coates. These also include résumés, obituaries, work lists, performances, programmes and programme notes as well as articles, lectures and speeches by Albert Coates. Programme notes are arranged in composer order. Further notes include vocal texts, miscellaneous notes and note books.

Scripts, Libretti and Synopses contains works by Albert Coates and works by other composers. In the former instance the works are arranged alphabetically according to title, while in the latter instance the arrangement is an alphabetical order according to composer, followed by an alphabetical arrangement of their works.

Costumes and Stage Design contains evidence of research for the production of a number of operas which include Van Hunks and the Devil, Samuel Pepys, Pickwick and Hansel and Gretel. These are sketches accompanied by holograph and typescript notes.

Photographs amount to ca. 81 and include photographs of Albert and Vera Coates, photographs of other personalities, as well as photographs of the performances of works by Albert Coates and other composers. The photographs of Albert and Vera Coates represent roughly a third in this series, again, mostly with photographs of Albert Coates.

Musical Compositions consists of music by Albert Coates and music by other composers. The former is catalogued under the headings Operas, Songs, Works for orchestra, Other instrumental, Miscellaneous Sketches and Manuscript books. Arias from Coates’s operas are only included individually in the index when mentioned in programmes. Music by other composers is subdivided under the categories of ‘Vocal’, ‘Works for orchestra’ and ‘Other Instrumental’. In addition to addresses and personal names, as found in the compositions of Albert Coates, annotations containing dates are given where possible for dating purposes. Dates in square brackets are based on literature, as found in the publication note below.

Miscellaneous Items includes a small number of items such as daily singing exercises and print and holograph fragments from unidentified works.

Photographic Spools includes works by Coates (operas and orchestral), works by other composers and personal films.

Sound Recordings includes a small portion of works by Albert Coates. Most of these recordings are of works by other composers conducted by Albert Coates.

Monographs constitutes a small number of books on topics varying from theatre costumes, composer biographies to subjects relevant to compositions.

Artefacts includes personal items such as pictures with characters from Charles Dickens’s novels.

Objets d’ Art includes objects such as portraits, art pieces and furniture.
Duplicates comprises additional items (mainly programmes) already integrated in the finding aid.
